Executive Director
Visit Posey County

Posey County, Indiana is an ideal landing place for travelers. It has been for thousands of years. A bird's-eye view of middle-America shows two great rivers tracing hundreds of miles of landscape, literally carving out the borders of midwest states.

The junction where those rivers meet is Posey County, and it's a place that's been chosen over and over as a perfect jumping-off point. The waterways and lush resources attracted Pre-Columbian native settlers, early explorers and scholars, vast farming operations, industries and pioneers of all sorts.

Known as a place of wild abundance and surprisingly big ideas, Posey County has hosted experiments in spirit, science, industry, art and agriculture that have raised eyebrows and global consciousness.

Today, it's still a place where people gather near the rivers to work and play, to bike-ride, bird-watch, fish, hunt and hike. We invite you to soak up history in our walkable towns and sample farm fresh foods buy some art or rent a golf cart. If you can stay a while, try out a Hoosier sunset or some dark-sky star gazing.

Amazing!

Welcome to Posey County. So glad you stopped by.

WHERE TWO GREAT RIVERS MEET

Posey County has been known for centuries as a place where two greatmidwest rivers meet. It's considered an ideal spot for agriculture, river transportation and related industries and it's a great place to call home. Today, Posey County is a slice of Americana that's surprisingly on-trend. It's a mix of old forests and fields under cultivation, rolling hills dotted with generational farmsteads and great small towns. People here are practical and outdoorsy and we take care of what's good. Visitors will come across a mix of restored pioneer cabins, brand new pole barn homesteads, town square buildings made from locally-fired brick and Indiana limestone, plus public art and

"My favorite area of Posey County is down in 'Point' which has wetlands and lakes open to the public. I enjoy kayaking through the Cypress Knees on Hovey Lake to see the Eagle's nest and hiking the boardwalk at Twin Swamps during the spring to see the wildflowers and hear the frogs. I always make sure I include a trip to Hasting's Nursery to stock up on vegetable plants, flowers, and herbs! While you're there, don't forget to visit the J.T. Meyers Locks and Dam where you get a great view of the confluence of the Wabash and Ohio."

world-class architecture. We're the site of two significant utopian experiments and an early center for education and earth sciences. We love our farmers' markets and hand-crafted, home brewed, locally-sourced goods. We're walkable, bikeable, golfcart and pet friendly.
